Internet Safety a New Station at J.C. Blair Auxiliary's Children's Health Fair

Huntingdon, PA (05/01/08) –

Caption: Dan Berger from the Tuscarora Intermediate Unit (TIU) 11 shares with second and third grade students from South Side and Rockhill Elementary schools the importance of internet safety. The students were given 'clickers' to answer questions about their personal technology use and the students' responses were immediately calculated and shown on screen. Internet safety was the newest of 12 interactive stations designed to teach the participating 365 Huntingdon County elementary students how to make healthy choices at The Auxiliary to J.C. Blair Memorial Hospital's 24th Annual Children's Health Fair. The event is held at the Huntingdon County Career & Technology Center each year in April.
